Course Aims / Description

1. Primary aim

This course is designed to introduce students to the interpretation world and its real practice. Consecutive interpretation will be covered starting from a very general aspect gradually into the professional domain. Students will not only gain the knowledge on the interpretation as a whole, but also learn and develop the most basic technique to interpret accurately and fluently from English into Chinese and vice versa chunks of articles or speeches (usually 2-3 minutes long).

2. Subsidiary aims

1. To enhance confidence in oral communication and in getting message across
2. To develop interests in building the bridge between two cultures
3. To enhance English listening and speaking ability
4. To improve the skills of summarizing and grasping main ideas/key messages
5. To explore both general and professional areas of studies

Course Methodology

The main focus of the course will be on the practice of basic techniques and interpretation itself. In the first half of the semester and before the actual interpretation practices begin, students will receive training and learn some basic skills including:

1. shadowing
2. short-term memory recall
3. summarizing & paraphrasing
4. BIG numbers
5. sight interpretation
6. note-taking

In the second half of the semester, workshops and mock conferences will be held, where students will have numerous interpretation practices on interested topics and speeches.
